

Impact In A Changing World Conference 2022

Agenda | November 11, 2022

The world today continues to face complex challenges that require immediate action. These challenges have resulted in radical disruptive changes right across the political, social, environmental, economic and technological landscapes. They are fundamentally transforming organizations not just in the social impact ecosystem but also in government and the corporate sector. As we mark our 10th anniversary, we acknowledge the need to collaborate and fast track solutions towards solving our most complex social problems.

Through the Impact in a Changing World Conference, we have created a platform for cross pollination by bringing together players from non-profit world, for-profit corporations, non-governmental organizations and individuals interested in increasing the pace towards finding lasting solutions to the complex challenges that we face.

We hope to provoke novel thinking around the future of social impact work and initiate collaboration that will result in transformative partnerships. We will also curate skills, best practice and knowledge sharing sessions and create needed synergies for sustainable and equitable growth.
